

Nodes

Get started with nodes!

The first data structure you are going to tackle is Nodes. You are going to learn what they are and how to implement them in JavaScript. They are the building blocks for many of the data structures to follow, and you will see them pop up many, many more times throughout the rest of this path.